

H.W2: Write a complete C++ program that does the following:

1. Using a function, read a one-dimensional array containing ten integers (entered by the end-user).
2. Use a recursive function to find a specific element (entered by the end-user in the main function) in the input array.